*When you are old and gray and full of sleep
And nodding by the fire, take down this book
And slowly read, and dream . . . William B. Yates*

Forward

Step by faltering step our tiny feet began to climb the stairway into the future. Even though the first few steps were low they loomed huge in our very young eyes. For most of us our education began at either of two places---Wade Elementary or Hurley Grammar School. As the steps became more difficult to climb, a few were left along the wayside or moved away, while others wished to join us. In our fifth year we all united at East Central Elementary School to go along together hand in hand. Year after year we were forced to lose a pal who had either moved to a new school or who found the steps increasingly too high and more difficult to climb.
Longer hours of classes
--more tedious
studies--intense learning.

To dedicate a yearbook to all East Central School boys who are at present or have been in Viet Nam is so little to do in exchange for their offering of their lives that we at home may remain free . . . But, however small it appears on the printed pages of this book, the gratitude and thanksgiving in our hearts would more than fill all the pages of all School Yearbooks in the past, present and future.

They're done with little thinking and they're done with little deeds, they're done with petty conduct and done with narrow creeds. They have grown from boys to men, and have noble work to do, and today they are our protectors with a larger point of view. In a big way some must suffer, in a big way some will die, in a big way they must labor, if our flag shall always fly. There must be no time for day-dreaming in the visions that they see, there must be no selfish planning in the joys that used to be. They must set their faces westward where the sun has begun to set, but they'll help to light the nations of new people they have met. The petty soul that's narrow, seeking only selfish gain shall be destroyed by our dear boys big enough to suffer pain. It's a big task they have taken; 'tis for all of us they fight, but they see their duty clearly in the white and shining light. We must quit our petty quarrels as we move along the way and work as men and women, for the bigger and better day. We must stop our selfish thinking and our narrow views and creeds, and as people, big and splendid we must do the bigger deeds.

SO, DEAR GOD, WE PRAY TO YOU---BE WITH EACH BOY WHO FIGHTS

GIVE HIM THE STRENGTH TO LEAD THE WAY TO JUSTICE OF HUMAN RIGHTS TO THE BATTLE LINES, DEAR GOD, OUR YOUTH WE HAD TO GIVE

THEY'RE FIGHTING HATE AND LUST EACH DAY, PLEASE GRANT THEIR CAUSE TO LIVE.

Our hearts and prayers are with you day and night. Accept this small token for your immense deeds.

To You, This 1967 Hornet, We Dedicate

He didn't seem to care for work, made average grades at school, his speech was slow and commonplace; but he certainly was no fool. Yet until the war broke out you'd calmly pass him by for nothing in his makeup would ever catch your eye.
He seemed indifferent to the world, the kind that doesn't care--That's satisfied with just enough to eat and just enough to wear; he didn't laugh when others did or cry when others weep, but seemed to walk the wakeful world half dormant and asleep. Then came the war, the soldiers marched and drums began to roll and suddenly we all saw this boy really had a soul. We little dreamed how much he loved his country and her flag; about the glorious Stars and Stripes we'd never heard him brag. He was first to volunteer, while brilliant boys demurred, he took the oath of loyalty without a faltering word, and then we found that he could talk, for one remembered night, he heard a young pacifist denouncing our boys who fight. He got up in uniform and looked at him and said:

"I wonder if you ever think about our soldiers dead, all that you are today, you owe some soldier in his grave; if he had been afraid to fight you'd probably be a slave."

If he had died a year ago beneath a peaceful sky, unjust our memory would have been; of him our tongues would lie. But now he stands among us all, eyes bright and shoulders true, a strong defender of the faith; a man with work to do; and if he dies, his name shall find its place on history's scroll; the great chance has revealed to us the splendor of his soul.

Dear Students:

Once more, we have almost reached the end of a school year. Many of you will prove that self-discipline, ambition, determination and effort have their reward.

Always remember your parents, who made sacrifices for you and encouraged you along the way.

Seniors, you are urged to continue your education. Remember that faith in one's self is important but faith without work is not enough.

To each of you, we hope that your experiences during school will help you to develop further into mature, competent, conscientious and loyal citizens.

I am proud to have been your Superintendent and to have shared some of your experiences.

Sincerely yours,

M. H. Mallette

Dear Students:

Every school principal who is worthy of the title he bears, wants the current session of school to be the best in the history of the school. I sincerely hope that this session will have been a most successful one in the lives of all pupils within our system.

No one realizes more than your principal that success will depend in large measure upon the priceless legacy you carry away from these halls; the knowledge you have won here; the stronger and more certain faith in yourselves that has been born here.

It is my sincere desire that each pupil will have realized a sense of belonging, participating, sharing, achieving and of responsibility in a world of change and uncertainties.

I want you to know that there is no finer contribution you can make for your country than to continue your education. In this era of growing complexity and advancing technology, our country can remain strong and prosperous, only when each young American acquires all the education he can possibly absorb.

You have my very best wishes for a lifetime of success and achievement.

Sincerely yours,

C. E. McMULLAN

A Salute to E.C.H.S. P.T.A.

"Our thanks should be as fervent for mercies received,
as our petitions for mercies sought....."

The P.T.A. is a vital segment of the activities at E.C.H.S. not only to serve as a vital link between parents and teachers, but as a staunch supporter for the purchasing of equipment which is so necessary for our everyday activities.

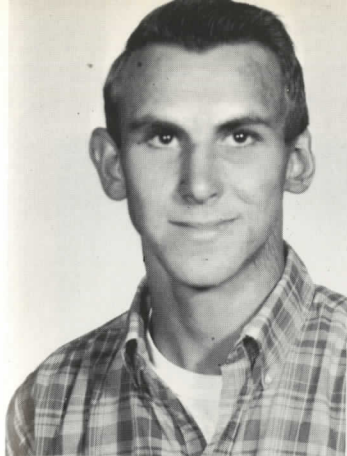

The HORNET STAFF salutes the P.T.A. of E.C.H.S. for their many years of loyal and generous services they have given to make our school days more enjoyable and comfortable.

They have kept us supplied with suitable playground equipment for the many little folks enrolled; bought audio-visual equipment; provided fans for all elementary and high school classrooms; room darkening shades for fifteen elementary class rooms; as well as, several water coolers. Their most recent gift to us was a new PA set. These are just a few of the many projects they have sponsored. THANKS!!!

CECILIA ARD

RITA FAYE FREEMAN

Dear Fellow Students,

A thousand things make up an annual; sixty-three youths struggling to make this their last year at E. C. with happiness and success for the future but sadness for those they are forced to leave behind, the tense young people awaiting the results of Who's Who contest for those coveted honors, a young lady waiting to be crowned Homecoming Queen, an instructor with weary back and endless patience trying to explain an intricate problem, exuberant students yelling at the pep rallies, or just a lone girl sitting thoughtfully with a book open on the table in the library.

Each picture in this book portrays a different time or place, yet each is connected by a common resemblance...YOU. It is our hope that you find yourself on this book's every page and that you associate with every scene a fond memory of your years at East Central.

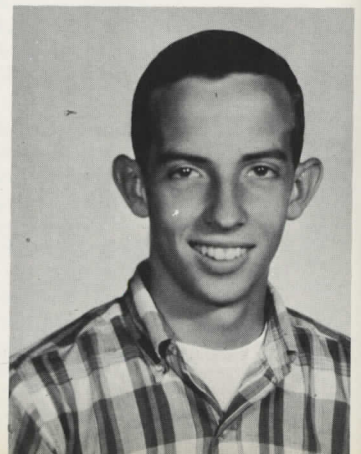

A special word of sincere gratitude is extended to Photographer Allen Pedersen without whom this story could never have been recorded..., to our sponsor, Mrs. Baria, without whom the story would not have been written..., and to YOU, without whom there would have been no story.
